UPS attached to Computer for power back up as an alternate source of Energy

Brief Report on the facilities provided

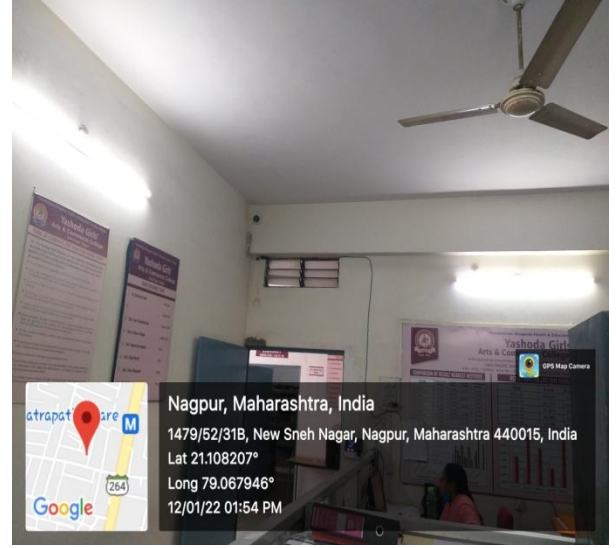

The institution has Electric Power Generator available having the capacity of 25 KW. It works on diesel. The institution always uses this facility when there is a problem of power in the institution. This generator has been purchased by the institution from the UGC grants. Similarly, there are many UPS available in the institution especially in office and Library for Power Back Up. The UPS are very much useful for providing back up to the computers when the electric current gets off at once. The institution has a robust system for the maintenance of these equipments.

Brief Report on the facility provided

The institution has taken initiative for the installation of the Automatic Overflow Control system not only to save water but also to save electric energy. Many times the water tank on the top floor used to become overflow. It used to waste not only water but also the electric power until it is switched off by the peons. In order to save water as well as the electric power this Automatic Overflow Control system has been installed and the institution is reaping benefits of this facility in the form of stoppage of wastage of water as well as electricity.
